Advice to bidders

Absentee bids

If instructed we will execute bids and advise intending Purchasers. The service is free. Lots will always be bought as cheaply as is allowed by other bids and reserves. Absentee bids, when placed by telephone, are accepted only at the sender's risk and must be confirmed by letter, telex or fax.

Using the bidding slips

Please use the bidding slips provided and check Lot numbers and descriptions. Please bid as early as possible. In the event of identical bids, the earliest will take precedence. 'Buy' bids are not accepted. The limit you leave should be the amount to which you would bid if you were to attend the Sale. Each bidding slip should contain bids for one sale only. Alternative bids can be placed by using the word 'or' between Lot Numbers.

Successful bids

Should you be a successful bidder you will receive an invoice detailing your purchases and giving instructions for payment and clearance of goods.

Please check your bid carefully.

Arrangements for Payment

In order to avoid delay in clearing purchases potential Buyers who are unknown to us are advised, before the Sale, to make payment arrangements or supply satisfactory references. If such arrangements are not made cheques will be cleared before purchases are delivered.

THE COLLECTION FORMED BY THE LATE JIMMY JACK OF NORTON, MALTON, NORTH YORKSHIRE

Jimmy began collecting Militaria in the mid-1950's, but his interest in medals, as so often happens, was sparked off by being given those of his father. He gradually formed a very well represented general collection, his eye always being taken by good actions, particularly if by Scottish Regiments—his Waterloo medals to men of the Scots Grey's and Black Watch, both wounded, being typical examples.

Seeking further interest and being born at Wishaw in Lanarkshire, Jimmy, not unnaturally, turned to his home regiments, the Cameronians (the old 26th and 90th of Foot) and the Lanarkshire Yeomanry. Very little gave him more pleasure than to find a rarity to one of these. The unique I.G.S. for Burma 1885-7 to the Scottish Rifles was a very special acquisition for him.

The 'icing on the cake' as he would have put it, came when he acquired fairly recently the Falkland's pair to Private S.J. Alexander of 2 Para. who was mentioned in despatches for Darwin and Goose Green.

It was a great sadness that Jimmy did not have longer to enjoy his collection. However, as he always admitted, he was only its temporary custodian.

132 THE DESTRUCTION OF KITTANNING 1756, silver with small loop suspender, 44mm diameter, very fine and very rare

Amongst the tribes of American Indians who fought on the side of the French, none were more treacherous than the Delawares, perpetrators of murders and scalplings along the length of the Pennsylvania border. A small force of three hundred Pennsylvanians under the command of Colonel Armstrong, of Cumberland County, was assembled to avenge the murders and destroy the Indians at their village of Kittanning, forty five miles from Fort Duquesne. Having crossed the Alleghanie mountains and marched thirty miles through the unbroken forest the force was guided to the village of Kittanning by the beating of a drum and the whooping of the warriors at their festival. In the attack that took place at dawn on 8th September, the warriors fought with desperate skill and bravery but were nonetheless defeated, the town being burned to the ground. The Americans lost sixteen men and Armstrong himself was among the wounded.

Medals were engraved and struck by Edward Duffield, a watch and clockmaker in Philadelphia, and presented by the city of Philadelphia, to Colonel Armstrong and to each of the commissioned officers under him.

£500-600
- 150 WATERLOO 1815 (Capt. P. Wodehouse, 15th or King's Reg. Hussars) fitted with steel clip and ring suspender, minor edge bruising, otherwise good very fine
Philip Wodehouse was the eldest son of the Reverend Philip Wodehouse by Appollonia, daughter and co-heir of John Nourse of Woodeaton in the County of Oxford.
Captain Wodehouse was present at the storm of San Sebastian and received two musket shots through his cap. He went to the town just after the storm and final surrender on 9th September. Here he was the means of saving the lives and honour of two girls, daughters of one Ganeiros, the leading hotel-keeper in San Sebastian. His house was one of the few which escaped total destruction by the bombardment, and when the British entered the town Ganeiros concealed his two daughters, bringing them food at night. Being eventually ill-treated and mortally injured by some soldiers, he was unable himself to do more, so confided his story to Captain Wodehouse, then occupying quarters at the hotel. This officer came at night to the girls' hiding place, passed them out of the house and town disguised in soldier's cloaks, and escorted them across the frontier to safety.

158 An important four clasp I.G.S. to Lieutenant Colonel Charles McDowall Skene, Commanding 42nd Gurkha Rifles, who was awarded the D.S.O. for the capture of the Ruby Mines in Burma, and treacherously murdered at Manipur in March 1891

INDIA GENERAL SERVICE 1854-95, 4 clasps, Umbeyla, Burma 1885-7, Burma 1887-89, Chin-Lushai 1889-90 (Lieut. C. McD. Skene, 5th Punjab Infy.) the last clasp loose as issued, very fine

Charles McDowall Skene was born about 1844 and was a kinsman of the Duke of Fife. Educated at Addiscombe, he joined the Indian Army in 1860 and served with the 5th Punjab Infantry in the campaign on the North West Frontier in 1863, and was present at the forcing of the Umbeyla pass (medal with clasp). Having transferred to the 43rd Gurkha Rifles he served in the Burma Expedition 1886-89, during which he captured the Ruby Mines. For his services in the campaign he was mentioned in despatches and created a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order. He commanded the Northern Column in the Chin-Lushai Expedition, and was repeatedly mentioned in despatches from the Government of India. Colonel Skene met an untimely death at the hands of the rebellious Manipur people in March 1891, having been transferred to the 42nd Gurkha Rifles as Commanding Officer just previously.

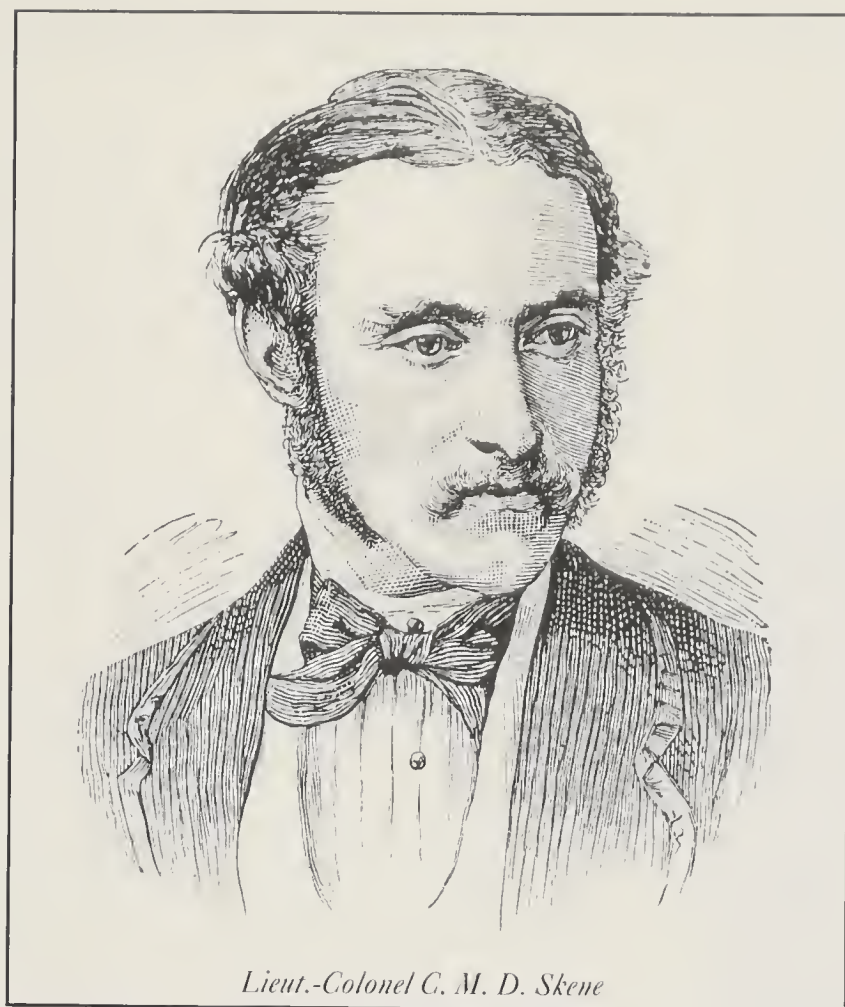

Murder in Manipur

The Manipuris had assisted the Indian Government against the Burmese, and in 1887 a present was made to the Rajah of some hundreds of rifles, a supply of cartridges, and two 7-pounder field-pieces with a quantity of shell and case shot. These were the arms and munitions of war that were used with deadly effect against our troops in the revolt of 1891.

A disputed succession and a palace revolution that had substituted one rajah for another had caused the Indian Government some anxiety. The dispossessed Rajah was intriguing for reinstatement, and the Indian Government, on the report of Mr. Grimwood, the local Resident, decided that the centre of agitation and trouble at the Manipur Court was a prince known as the Senaputi (literally the "Lord of the Army"), and determined that he should be arrested and removed from the state. Mr. Quinton, the Chief Commissioner of Assam, was ordered to proceed to Manipur, hold a durbar, and arrest the Senaputi. He took with him an escort of 400 Goorkhas. There was already a guard of a hundred Goorkhas stationed at Manipur as an escort for Mr. Grimwood.

Mr. Quinton reached Manipur early on the morning of March 22nd, and summoned a durbar for the same afternoon. The durbar met, but the Senaputi, who evidently had some information of what was intended, refused to leave the palace and meet the Commissioner. The durbar was adjourned till next day. Meanwhile, Mr. Grimwood saw the Rajah and endeavoured to impress upon him the importance of his minister attending the durbar, warning him that his absence would be a dangerous defiance of the Government's authority. But on the 23rd the Senaputi was still contumacious, and it was resolved to effect his arrest by force. Accordingly at dawn on the 24th Colonel Skene, of the Goorkhas, entered the palace at the head of 250 of his men. But the Manipuris had prepared for resistance. The palace was swarming with men (6,000 in all, it was said), two guns were in position to sweep the approach inside the main gate, and, as the Goorkhas entered, hundreds of rifles opened on them from roofs, windows, and loopholed walls. An attempt was made to rush the guns. It failed and Lieutenant Brackenbury, who led it, was literally riddled with bullets. Skene persisted in his attempt to take possession of the palace, and actually secured a footing in it. The fighting continued for some hours. About noon the Manipuris used their superiority in numbers to make a determined attack on the Residency. Colonel Skene then felt that he could no longer keep his small force divided between the Residency and the palace, and, carrying his wounded with him (among them poor young Brackenbury), he withdrew his men to the former building.

The Manipur men came swarming after them, and the Residency buildings which were badly fitted for defence, were soon closely besieged. Heavy rifle firing went on till evening, many of the garrison being killed and wounded. The guns were dragged down from the palace, and the Residency was bombarded at close range. One shell burst in the stable and killed all the horses. Others exploded in the upper rooms, and it was only by great efforts that the place was kept from taking fire. At 7 o'clock Colonel Skene, after a consultation with his colleagues, decided to try what negotiation would do. The bugles sounded the "Cease fire," and, after some delay, the Manipuris stopped firing; and Mr. Quinton, his secretary, Mr. Cossins, the Resident, Mr. Grimwood, and Colonel Skene and Lieutenant Simpson, of the Goorkhas, came out to meet the Rajah and his chiefs.

They had no sooner left their own lines when they were treacherously attacked and seized before they could attempt either flight or resistance.

A force was at once assembled on the northern border of Burma for the recapture of Manipur and the rescue of the prisoners. It was commanded by General Graham, and made up of four companies of the K.R.R.C., a Gurkha battalion, a battalion of Madras Infantry, and a British Mountain battery. On 26th April, Graham's three columns met near Manipur and entered the city which had been deserted by the rebel princes and their followers. "The aspect of the place was extraordinary," wrote Reuter's correspondent with the force. "Scarcely a human being was to be seen. The whole of the capital was wrapped in silence. As the troops marched into the midst of the cluster of houses, they encountered no foe, for there was not a fighting man within the walls. It was a deserted city. Moving on wearily, the British force entered the enclosures of the palace of the Majarajah. Here also was absolute stillness. The magazine had been blown up and the inside of the palace was a wreck. It had been sacked from end to end and hardly a thing of value remained in it. One discovery, which, though not unexpected, sent a thrill of horror through all ranks, was made. Within the palace enclosure were found the heads of the British officials and officers who had fallen a prey to the treachery of the rulers of Manipur."

- 167 A good Rorke's Drift medal awarded to Private Michael Minehan, 2nd Battalion, South Wales Borderers

SOUTH AFRICA 1877-9, 1 clasp, 1877-8-9 (B/11527 Pte., 2/24th Foot) minor edge knock, otherwise good very fine

Michael Minehan was born at Castlehaven, Co. Cork, in 1845. He attested on 14th October, 1864, at Bandon, but was found to have already joined the West Coast Artillery Militia earlier in that year. Nevertheless, he was allowed to continue in the 2nd 24th Foot, and saw service in India, South Africa and the Mediterranean. He engaged for further service at Secunderabad on 7th October 1871.

Colonel Penn-Symons wrote: "Minehan was a great pal of mine; he was right-hand man, front rank of B Company, who knew his drill well and had often kept me straight." At one stage of the battle at Rorke's Drift, Minehan had been posted in the kraal. The day after the fight he was unable to speak as a result of exhaustion, but had taken Penn-Symons to the corner of the kraal at which he had been stationed. By means of gesticulation he indicated the body of a Zulu, partly hidden under the straw. It appeared that during the battle the Zulu had crawled under the straw and grabbed Minehan by the leg. Minehan had 'prodded the straw with his bayonet' and one such thrust had penetrated the Zulu's body, killing him instantly.

Minehan was highly regarded by his officers and received several testimonials of good character from them, including one written by Bromhead and dated 24th March 1884.

After his service in South Africa, Minehan was again posted to India on 12th August, 1880, and whilst there contracted cholera on 15th April 1884. He was invalided to England at the end of the same month and, following his examination by a medical board at Netley Hospital, was found unfit for further service and discharged on 2nd September, 1884.

Private Minehan's presence at the Defence of Rorke's Drift is confirmed on all four of the accepted roll's and furthermore by the anecdote related above.

- 175 An important Soudan Campaign medal to Lieutenant M.H. Seymour, Royal Navy, killed in action at Tofrek whilst commanding the Gardner guns at the Berkshire's redoubt
EGYPT 1882-89, undated reverse, 2 clasps, Suakin 1885, Tofrek (Lieut. M.H. Seymour R.N., H.M.S. Dolphin) officially impressed naming, extremely fine and rare

Montague Hamilton March Seymour entered the Royal Navy as a Naval Cadet, 12th December 1867; Midshipman, 20th January 1870; Sub-Lieutenant, 19th July 1874; Lieutenant, 14th August 1878.

General McNeill's zeriba at Tofrek

Having broken up the enemy's concentration at Hashin and established a post there, the next step was to crush Osman Digna at Tamai. Before doing so, however, it was necessary for reasons of supply, to establish an intermediate post in the desert, and for this purpose Sir George Graham despatched a force on the 22nd March, 1885, under the command of Sir John McNeill. Attached to his force, in addition to a Battalion of Royal Marines, was a small Naval Brigade detachment with four Gardner guns.

The column was encumbered by a huge transport, and its advance was impeded by dense bush. At 10.30 am on 23rd March it halted at Tofrek, about six miles out from Suakin. The zeriba was to take the shape of three squares en echelon, the centre square being the largest, and at the outward corner of each of the small squares was to be a redoubt with two Gardner guns manned by the Naval Contingent. The command of the north redoubt, protecting the square entrusted to the Berkshire Regiment, was given to Lieutenant Seymour, H.M.S. Dolphin.

Construction of the defences began in earnest but shortly after 2.30 pm, an orderly arrived to report "the enemy collecting in front," followed immediately by another with the news that they were "advancing rapidly." Sir John McNeill immediately gave orders to call in the working parties and in the next instant saw the cavalry come galloping in, close behind them the enemy, in the usual small groups. The working party of the Berkshire Regiment rushed back into their zeriba, and stood to their arms.

The main attack was directed at the zeriba of the Berkshire's where General McNeill was lucky to escape with his life. The enemy swarmed over the low bush fence and over the unfinished sand-bag parapet at the south-west salient, into the Berkshire zeriba, stabbing and cutting everywhere with their long razor-sharp swords. It was here that Lieutenant Seymour and 6 of his bluejackets, in charge of the Gardner guns, were killed; and here also that the Berkshire's had their greatest loss. The Gardner guns were being placed in position at the time and could not be got into action, so that their detachments, who stood their ground gallantly, suffered severely.

The twenty minutes that the battle lasted were crowded with instances of cool bravery, wild bewilderment and fanatical desperation. As the smoke and dust cleared away, a shambles of bodies of men and animals was revealed. The British lost over 150 men killed including Lieutenant Seymour and his six bluejackets from the Naval Brigade; while at least 1,000 of the enemy lay dead around and within the zeribas.

Approximately 50 medals for Tofrek were issued to the Royal Navy, of these only 12 were to H.M.S. Dolphin. Lieutenant Seymour and the six men under him were the only losses of the Naval Brigade at the battle of Tofrek.

- 178 ROYAL NIGER COMPANY MEDAL 1886-97, silver, 1 clasp, Nigeria 1886-1897 (Lieutenant R.H. McCorquodale, 3rd Dragoon Guards) engraved naming, nearly very fine

Robert Hume McCorquodale joined the 3rd Dragoon Guards, Second Lieutenant, 5th December 1891; Lieutenant, 24th May 1893. He was attached to the Royal Niger Company from February 1895 to July 1896. Although confirmed on Lt. Colonel A.M. Macfarlane's roll of the R. Niger Company Medal (O.M.R.S. Miscellany 1980) there is also a remark stating that the medal should not have been issued, because McCorquodale had died in 1896, prior to authorization of the medal.

£400-500

- 179 BRITISH SOUTH AFRICA COMPANY MEDAL 1890-97, reverse undated, 1 clasp, Mashonaland 1890 (Tpr. R.J. Fildes, B.S.A.C.P.) very fine and scarce

Only 200 medals were issued for Mashonaland 1890, 110 to the B.S.A. Co. Police.

Trooper Robert James Fildes was born at Eccles, Manchester, on 28th February, 1868, educated at Eton, and then took employment in a textile factory which was owned by his father. But he found this uncongenial, and so married and came to South Africa. Here he joined the Company on 10th December, 1889 and served in B Troop, but was discharged on 7th July, 1890 before the march of the Pioneer Column.

He remained in South Africa, was wounded during the Boer War of 1899-1902, after which he and his family returned to England. Here they remained for a short while, and then came back to South Africa, where Fildes set up as a building contractor. This was not a success so he started a small boarding-house at Woodstock, Capetown, where he lived until his death on 25th June 1953.

He came to Southern Rhodesia in 1930 for the fortieth anniversary of the Occupation of Mashonaland, and was then presented with the 1890 Mashonaland Medal.

QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICA 1899-1902, 1 clasp, Cape Colony (6112 Pte. D. Davis, S. Staff. Reg.), edge bruise, otherwise nearly very fine
 Private Daniel Davis together with Private G. Smith, deserted at Fraserburg on 15th May, 1902, whilst serving with the 3rd Battalion South Staffordshire Regiment (Mounted Infantry). His enlistment papers are marked 'Deserter' and the medal roll is crossed through similarly. The roll indicates that he should have been entitled to the dated clasps for 1901 and 1902 only. Unfortunately it is not recorded when his award was restored and issued. The medal to Private Smith is noted to have been restored and issued in 1939. Approximately 23 men are recorded as deserters from the army in South Africa during 1902.

347 A fine Boer War D.C.M. group of three for the battle of Pieters Hill awarded to Colour Sergeant J.J. Miller

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL, V.R. (Sgt., 1st York & Lanc. Regt.); QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICA 1899-1902, 5 clasps, Cape Colony, Tugela Heights, Orange Free State, Relief of Ladysmith, Transvaal (Sgt.); KING'S SOUTH AFRICA, 2 clasps (Clr.-Serjt.), some contact marks, otherwise very fine (3)

D.C.M., London Gazette, 19th April 1901 (AO163-1901) for gallant conduct at Pieters Hill, 27th February, 1901.

The regiment disembarked in Durban on 3rd January, 1900, and joined the 11th Brigade on 4th January, reaching the Tugela on the 13th. After being involved in the actions at Spion Kop, the battle of Pieters Hill was the regiments next major engagement. Sergeant Miller was the first man to win a gallantry award in the Boer War, one of only 9 D.C.M.'s won by the regiment.

Colonel Kitchener commanding the brigade at Pieters Hill reported that "He did excellent work under my personal observation. His gun was under heavy fire, and he never slacked off or made a mistake; its coming into action on our right rendered advance possible." Sergeant Miller was in command of the regimental Maxim gun, the only regimental Maxim in action that day. It had been laboriously dragged up a precipitous ascent and was used with splendid effect against the enemy, many of whom, when found next day, testified by their wounds to its efficiency.

£500-600

- 348 A Great War D.C.M., M.M. group of seven awarded to Colour Sergeant H.G. Emms, which also includes a very rare single clasp K.S.A.

Regt.) the last clasp wired together; KING'S SOUTH AFRICA, 1 clasp, South Africa 1902 (Pte); 1914 STAR (Pte); BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (C.Sjt.), nearly very fine and better (7)

M.M., London Gazette, 22nd January 1917.

D.C.M., London Gazette, 18th July 1917, "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Despite heavy casualties, and the absence of any officer, he stuck to his post in a most advanced position. He was subjected to an intense bombardment, and beat off three counter-attacks."

Private Emms served in the Boer War with the 1st Battalion and proceeded to South Africa on 13th December 1899. He was wounded by a gunshot in the right forearm at Venters Spruit on 21st January, 1900, and invalided to England on 18th March, 1900. He returned to South Africa on 9th January 1902 until November of that year, when he proceeded to India. Sold with further research confirming his clasp entitlement.

£400-500

- 349 A Great War D.C.M. group of five for the Battle of Messines awarded to Company Sergeant Major T. Blockley

D.C.M., London Gazette, 26th June 1917. "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Whilst in charge of a working party he showed great coolness and courage under heavy shell-fire during which he was wounded in several places and buried twice, notwithstanding this he carried on with his work and then skilfully withdrew his party."

Croce de Guerra, Italy, London Gazette 9th December, 1918.

£250-300

- 350 A Great War D.C.M. for the V.C. action in 'Big Willie' trench during the Battle of Loos awarded to Private T. Jones

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL, G.V.R. (18165 Pte., 1/Y. & L. Regt.) small edge bruise, otherwise nearly extremely fine

D.C.M., London Gazette, 16th November 1915. "For conspicuous bravery on the 29th September 1915 near Vermelles. Pte. Jones displayed the greatest bravery in continuing to throw bombs from our parapet although under constant and direct fire. The enemy had cut off the left flank and he helped to bomb them out and retake the trench. The whole action lasted six hours and nearly all his fellow bomb throwers were killed or wounded. His gallantry and devotion to duty were most marked."

The Victoria Cross was awarded to Private Samuel Harvey for his bravery in supplying bombs to the bomb throwers in 'Big Willie' trench. He went backwards and forwards under intense fire and succeeded in bringing up no less than thirty boxes of bombs before he was wounded in the head. It was mainly due to his cool bravery in supplying bombs that the enemy was eventually driven back.

£200-250

- 351 An unusual Great War D.C.M. for culinary services under fire in Italy awarded to Lance Corporal W. Jowett

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL, G.V.R. (15353 L. Cpl., 9/S. Bn. York & Lanc. R.)

D.C.M., London Gazette, 3rd June 1919-details, 11th March 1920.

"During the period 15th September to 4th November 1918, for conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has repeatedly prepared meals for his company under heavy fire and under exceptionally trying conditions. His work has been a great asset to the men of his company under all circumstances."

£180-220

- 352 A scarce D.C.M. group of six for the campaign in Norway 1940, awarded to Sergeant A. Cully

DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL, G.V.R. (4745231 A. Sgt., Y. & L.R.); 1939-45 STAR; AFRICA STAR; ITALY STAR; DEFENCE AND WAR MEDALS, contact marks, nearly very fine (6)

D.C.M., London Gazette, 6th August 1940; 'For gallant and distinguished services in connection with recent operations in Norway.'

The following citation was extracted from an official source:

"For conspicuous gallantry on the 28th April, 1940. The enemy had succeeded in turning the flank of the position and had been able to establish a road block to prevent withdrawal. Lance Sergeant Cully was in command of the fighting patrol which was ordered to drive back the enemy infiltration. On nearing a bend in the road a road block was found. At the same time the enemy opened fire with a machine gun. L/Sgt. Cully ordered covering fire with a light machine gun, while he himself advanced by the side of the road and succeeded in destroying with grenades the enemy machine gun post which was in a house covering the road block.

He then cleared part of the block and returned to Pte. Ryan. Together they mounted a lorry carrying Anti-tank guns. Pte. Ryan fired his L.M.G. from the lorry and the lorry rushed the block. It was owing to the gallant action of L/Sgt. Cully and Pte. Ryan that the A.T. guns were got away safely."

The 1st Battalion sailed to Norway aboard H.M.S. Sheffield on 22nd April and returned on 30th April, 1940. This brief campaign cost the Battalion over 200 men, many of whom were either taken prisoner or interned in Sweden. The majority of the casualties resulted from the action on 28th April near Otta, the survivors making their way to Aandalsness where they re-embarked on the Sheffield, Arethusa and other smaller craft.

In addition to Sgt. Cully's D.C.M., Major Jordan was awarded the D.S.O. and Private Ryan the M.M. A total of 14 D.C.M.'s were awarded to the Regiment during the second World War

- 356 A fine Great War M.M. announced posthumously to Private Ernest Spencer, 12th Sheffield City Battalion, who was killed in action on the first day of the Somme
 MILITARY MEDAL, G.V.R. (12-785 Ptc. 12/Y. & L.R.) nearly extremely fine
 M.M., London Gazette, 28th July 1917 "H.M. the King has been graciously pleased to approve the award of the Military Medal for bravery in the field to the undermentioned NCO and men since deceased, who have been killed in action or died of wounds or disease subsequent to the date of the award of the Military Medal to them by the C-in-C in the field."
 The following details are taken from the 'History of 12 (S) Bn. York and Lancaster Regt.':
 "12/785 Pte. E. spencer and 12/822 Pte. B.C. Wilkinson - These two men brought up fresh supplies of S.A.A. from Company Reserve in Rob Roy when that trench and Nairne communication trench were being heavily shelled. They had to climb out of the trench in several places where it was blown in, and doing so Pte. Wilkinson was stunned for several seconds by shrapnel hitting his helmet. They persevered, however, and were successful in their attempt to bring up ammunition. They were awarded the M.M. as a reward for their gallant conduct."
 Private Ernest Spencer was killed in action, 1st July, 1916, when the 12th Bn., as part of 84 Brigade, acted as the leading Battalion in the attack on Serre, suffering over 600 casualties in the space of only 3 hours.

357 An Anzio M.M. group of eight awarded to Acting Corporal R.B. Ball, 1st Battalion York and Lancaster Regiment

MILITARY MEDAL, G.V.I.R. (6896858 A. Cpl., Y. & L.R.); 1939-45 STAR; AFRICA STAR, clasp, 8th Army; ITALY STAR; FRANCE AND GERMANY STAR; DEFENCE AND WAR MEDALS; EFFICIENCY MEDAL, bar, Territorial (Cpl., M.M., Y & L.), nearly extremely fine (8)

M.M., London Gazette, 20th July 1944; 'For gallant and distinguished service in Italy.'

The following citation was extracted from an official source:

"On March 25th 1944, on the ANZIO beachhead, B. Coy. of the 1st Bn. The York & Lancaster Regt. was holding a defensive position in the Wadi COGNA at about 842298, where it was in close contact with the German positions and had already suffered considerable casualties from shelling and mortar bombs. At about 1400 hrs. the coy area was again heavily shelled and during the bombardment one shell, landing in the middle of an L shaped trench of A/Cpl. Ball's section buried the two occupants. A/Cpl. Ball saw this occur, and despite the fact that many shells were still landing around him, and regardless of the extreme danger that he incurred, he jumped out of his trench, ordered two men of his section to follow him and dug the two buried men out of this trench. During all this time the shelling was continuous.

There is little doubt that these men would have lost their lives but for Cpl. Ball's prompt action and complete disregard for his own personal safety. His leadership and bravery on this, as on all previous occasions when he has been under fire was an inspiration to all ranks of his company."

Regt.); KING'S SOUTH AFRICA, 2 clasps (Capt.); BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (Major) some knocks and contact marks to first, otherwise generally very fine (5)

John Saunders Armstrong was one of only 7 officers of the regiment who served in Rhodesia 1896. He served on the staff as Signals Officer during the Boer War, one of only 3 officers to earn the clasp for Natal. After retiring to the Reserve in 1907, he rejoined the regiment shortly after the outbreak of the Great War, with the rank of Major. He served with the 9th Battalion in France at the battle of the Somme on 1st July, 1916, when the battalion was virtually wiped out.

£350-400

- 360 Three: Regimental Sergeant Major E. Hotson, York and Lanc. Regiment

Maj.); MERITORIOUS SERVICE MEDAL, G.V.R., Coinage Head (Sjt. Mjr., Y. & L. R.), the first two with silver ribbon brooches, good very fine and better (3)

Sergeant-Major Edward Hotson enlisted into the 84th Regiment, joining them at Sheffield in June, 1878. He became Sergeant in 1886, Colour-Sergeant 1890, and was posted to the Wath Detachment, 2nd V.B. Y. & L. Regt., 1894. He served in the South African Campaign, joining the 1st Battalion at Ingogo, with the Company of Volunteers under the command of Captain Revell-Sutton, 1901. Promoted Sergeant-Major in November, 1901, he was discharged on 12th May, 1909, after completing 30 years honourable service. Sergeant-Major Hotson was awarded the long service medal in 1905, and the Meritorious Service Medal, with annuity, in 1933.

£150-200

- 361 Pair: Private F.H. Brookfield, 12th Sheffield City Battalion
 BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (12-318 Pte., York & Lanc. R.) together with bronze Memorial Plaque extremely fine (3)

Frederick Harold Brookfield was killed in action on the first day of the Somme, 1st July 1916. He enlisted in the 12th (City) Bn. on 6th September, 1914, and served in Egypt and France. He is commemorated by name on the Thiepval Memorial in France.

The following extract is taken from 'History of the Sheffield City Battalion' by R.A. Sparling:

'The 1st of July 1916, will be remembered as one of the saddest and most tragic, yet withal one of the most glorious, pages of Sheffield history, for on that day there fell in battle the largest number of Sheffield men ever known. Around it sacred memories will ever eling as citizens recall the gallant men who in a few minutes put to the test their long months of training.'

£60-80

362 Four: Company Sergeant-Major C.J. Smith, 2nd Battalion York and Lancaster Regiment

BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (7997 W.O. Cl.2); GENERAL SERVICE 1918-62, 2 clasps, Iraq, N.W. Persia (W.O. Cl.2); ARMY L.S. & G.C., (W.O. Cl. II), very fine (4)

Charles Smith served with 5th Bn. in the Great War and as C.S.M. with 2nd Bn. in Persia 1921. He was awarded the long service medal in 1923 and discharged in November 1925, after 21 years service. He is regularly mentioned in the regimental journal, Tiger & Rose, as participating in concerts and sport, particularly football, having played for Tottenham Hotspur.

£40-60

363 Three: Colour-Sergeant A.M. Hulme, York and Lancaster Regiment

BRITISH WAR MEDAL (7376 C.Sjt., Y. & L.R.); DEFENCE MEDAL; DELHI DURBAR 1911 (Corpl., York & Lancs Regt.), nearly very fine (3)

364 A fine long service group of eight to Regimental Sergeant-Major B. Marsh, York and Lancaster Regiment

BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (9453 Sjt., Y. & L.R.); GENERAL SERVICE 1918-62, 1 clasp, N.W. Persia; 1939-45 STAR; DEFENCE AND WAR MEDALS; ARMY L.S. & G.C., G.V.R. (W.O. Cl. II); MERITORIOUS SERVICE MEDAL, G.V.I.R., 3rd type (W.O. Cl. I), the obverses of the earlier medals heavily polished, otherwise nearly very fine or better (8)

Regimental Sergeant-Major Marsh joined the 2nd Bn. at Blackdown on 3rd May, 1909, and went through every rank from private to R.S.M., the latter rank being perhaps the greatest achievement to be attained by a soldier. His war service was spent in France with the 14th, 13th and 7th Battalions of the regiment. After the war he was appointed sergeant drummer of the 2nd Bn. in Mesopotamia, which he held until his appointment as acting C.S.M. (instructor of musketry) in November, 1921. On 28th September 1929 he was promoted to the rank of Warrant Officer Class 1 (R.S.M.), continuing in that rank until 9th November, 1934, when he left the army having completed just over 25 years service.

GROUPS AND SINGLE DECORATIONS AWARDED FOR GALLANTRY OR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

368 The Boer War Victoria Cross group to Major Alexis Charles Doxat, King's Royal Rifle Corps, late Yorkshire Imperial Yeomanry

VICTORIA CROSS, reverse of suspension bar engraved (Lieut. A.C. Doxat, 3rd Bn. Imperial Yeomanry), reverse centre of the cross dated '20th Octr. 1900'; QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICA 1899-1902, 4 clasps, Cape Colony, Orange Free State, Transvaal, S.A. 1901, (Lieut., V.C., 11/Co. 3/Imp. Yeo.); 1914-15 STAR (Capt., V.C., K.R. Rif. C.); BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (Capt., V.C.) naming engraved on these two; CORONATION 1937, unnamed and mounted on brooch as issued, the first six mounted 'cavalry style' as worn, generally good very fine (6)

Victoria Cross, London Gazette, 15th January, 1901:

"On the 20th October, 1900, near Zeerust, Lieutenant Doxat proceeded with a party of Mounted Infantry to reconnoitre a position held by 100 Boers on a ridge of Kopjes. When within 300 yards of the position, the enemy opened a heavy fire on Lieutenant Doxat's party, which retired, leaving one of their number who had lost his horse. Lieutenant Doxat, seeing the dangerous position in which the man was placed, galloped back under a heavy fire, and brought him on his horse to a place of safety."

Major Alexis Charles Doxat was born at Surbiton, Surrey on 9th April, 1867 and educated at Norwich Grammar School and Philberd's, Maidenhead. He was a Captain in the Dalston Militia under Colonel Somerset, C.B., and Lieut-Colonel Gowles, M.P. and successfully passed the examinations of the Auxiliary School of Instruction and the Hythe Musketry School. On the outbreak of the Boer War he left the Stock Exchange, of which he was a member, and proceeded to South Africa with Lord Scarborough's detachment where he served with the 11th (Yorkshire) Company, Imperial Yeomanry. He took part in the advance of Lord Methuen's force from Boshof in May 1900, and in September 1900 he joined General Douglas' column as his personal A.D.C., acting chiefly as Reconnaissance Officer.

The Victoria Cross was personally presented to Lieutenant Doxat by His Majesty King Edward VII at Marlborough House on 17th December, 1901 and he was present at the first V.C. Garden Party given by H.M. King George V on 26th June, 1920 and at the Ceremony at the Cenotaph and the Burial of the Unknown Warrior 11th November, 1920. Major Doxat died in Cambridge, 29th November, 1942, aged 75 years.

Lieutenant Doxat was the only member of the Imperial Yeomanry to win the Victoria Cross in the Boer War.

M.C. London Gazette, 4 December 1918; Lieut., Welsh Guards, Spec. Res. attd. 1st Bn.

“This officer took over command of a company ten minutes before the attack. Throughout the whole advance he showed the greatest coolness and grasp of the situation. When a re-adjustment of the line became necessary he organised it with the utmost skill, after having collected all his wounded, which was done under heavy machine-gun fire. The small number of casualties suffered by his company was due to his gallantry and fine example.”

Lieutenant Hugh Charles Norwood Hill served in German South West Africa in 1915, as a Private in the North Rhodesian Rifles. He was commissioned 2nd Lieut., 31 October, 1917 and served in France and Flanders with the Welsh Guards from March 1918, to February 1919. He was employed with the Welsh Guards in the second World War with the temporary rank of Major.

£350-400

378 A North African Campaign M.C. group of six attributed to Captain Leslie MacLean, Royal Artillery

MILITARY CROSS, G.V.I.R., reverse officially dated '1943', in its Royal Mint case of issue; 1939-45 STAR; AFRICA STAR; DEFENCE AND WAR MEDALS; TERRITORIAL DECORATION, E.I.I.R., reverse officially dated '1964', in its Royal Mint case of issue, all medals unnamed as issued, extremely fine (6)

M.C., London Gazette, 29 September, 1943

"On 30 Mar 1943 during the DJEBEL ABI OD operations, Captain L. MacLean, when in support 6 A & S Highlanders, had his carrier destroyed and his O.P.A. wounded. He obtained a second wireless set which his party had to carry into SEDJANANE as the bridge to the West of it was blown. In SEDJANANE one of his operators was wounded. On 31 Mar he followed up the 6 A & S carrying his set with the aid of Two O.R.s from that battalion and gave such support as was required until his O.P. was withdrawn to the battery.

On 22 Apr Captain MacLean was ordered to establish an O.P. on SEBA ARGOUR in support of 128 Inf Bde's attack. This he was unable to do as that feature was not taken on 22 Apr, but he carried his set to a point near the feature known as PLOUGH TOP where he was under continued M.G. fire, and gave such support by observed fire as was asked from the medium battery, in particular destroying an M.G. Post on MEHALIA.

On 11 May he established his O.P. on a ridge S. of the CRETEVILLE-GROMBALIA road without local protection, some seven hundred yds from eight enemy tanks. These withdrew as a result of the fire he brought to bear leaving four on the ground damaged and unable to move.

At all times this officer has shown great determination to occupy his O.P. and bring supporting fire to bear however trying the circumstances."

£120-140

379 A fine Boer War D.C.M. group of seven to Sergeant-Major W. Cook, Royal Horse Artillery, who was taken prisoner at Sanna's Post and awarded the D.C.M. for gallantry at the battle of Bothaville DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL, E.VII.R. (B. Sjt. Maj., U. Bty. R.H.A.); QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICA 1899-1902, 4 clasps, Relief of Kimberley, Paardeberg, Driefontein, Transvaal (B.S. D.C.M., London Gazette, 27 September 1901.

Cook was Battery Sergeant-Major and, therefore, Senior N.C.O. of 'Q' Battery in the action at Sanna's Post on 31st March 1900, and was taken prisoner during the latter stages of the action. His name, together with those of the other N.C.O.'s, was put forward in the ballot for the Victoria Cross, Sergeant C. Parker being the N.C.O. that they elected for the award. Shortly after the action at Sanna's Post, Cook transferred to 'U' Battery and was once again the Battery Sergeant Major in the fierce action at Bothaville on 6 November, 1900, where "notwithstanding a hail of bullets from the Boer Sharpshooters, the gunners coolly unlimbered, opened fire, and continued in action for some hours, while their smoking guns grew white with the splashes of lead."

'U' Battery records confirm that B.S. Major Cook was awarded the D.C.M. for this action. Cook died at the Royal Hospital, Chelsea in September, 1953 having been awarded the M.S.M. in 1944. The lot is accompanied by a quantity of research.

£180-220

- 390 A D.S.M. group of four to Chief Engineman E.C.P. Clinton for gallantry when his ship was attacked by a Stuka dive-bomber

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL, G.V.R. (K.56636 Ch. Mech. 2., H.M.T. Syringa); 1939-45 STAR; ATLANTIC STAR; WAR MEDAL, nearly extremely fine (4)

D.S.M., London Gazette, 4th October, 1940, 'For courage, determination and resource during attacks by enemy aircraft.'

The following details were taken from 'Her Majesty's Minesweepers':

"On another occasion two trawlers, the Syringa (Skipper W.T. Ritchie, R.N.R.) and the Reboundo (Skipper H.A. Catchpole, R.N.R.), were sweeping in company in the Channel, when they sighted an aircraft, which appeared to be a Junkers 87, approaching from the south-eastward and flying at about 300 feet. The Reboundo challenged, was answered by a burst of machine-gun fire, and then opened with her 12-pounder and Lewis gun. The aircraft crossed the trawler's quarter and dropped a salvo of five bombs on either side.

It then attacked the Syringa, whose armament also went into action, spraying the bridge and deck with machine-gun bullets, and dropped two more salvos, one missing to starboard, the other to port. Turning away to starboard it again bombed the Reboundo without damaging her, but a machine-gun bullet wounded Skipper Catchpole in the thigh.

Then came the Syringa's turn again. Seaman-Gunner Colyer, at the Lewis gun, was killed by a burst from the German rear-gunner as the aircraft passed over the trawler, and a bomb pierced the engine-room casing. It landed on the platform on the fore side of the engine, but failed to explode.

The aircraft then returned for a third attack, this time on the Syringa only. As it approached, it appeared to be losing height until eventually it came within range of the Syringa's low-angle gun, which opened fire. After the second round the German crashed into the sea a mile from the ship.

Skipper Ritchie then went down to the engine-room, where Stoker Petty Officer C.H. Wood, R.N., had remained at his post throughout the engagement.

"With the assistance of Chief Engineman E.C. Clinton" wrote the Skipper in his official report, "I carried the bomb on deck and threw it overboard."

The Navy is accustomed to understatement, and Skipper Ritchie's succinct account of how he disposed of the unexploded bomb as though it had been a dead rat did not blind the Board of Admiralty to his courage, or to the Stoker Petty Officer's calm bravery in remaining at his post with the bomb lying at his feet. Skipper Ritchie was awarded the D.S.C., Clinton and Wood the D.S.M."

£380-420

- 391 A D.S.M. awarded to Able Seaman Alfred Hutchinson, H.M.T. Visenda, for the sinking of the U.551

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL, G.V.I.R. (JX 142063, A.B., H.M.T. Visenda) suspension refixed, edge knocks, good fine and better

D.S.M., London Gazette, 18th July 1941, 'For courage and skill in a successful attack on an Enemy Submarine.'

One D.S.O., one D.S.C., and two D.S.M.'s were awarded to the crew of the trawler Visenda for the destruction of the German U-Boat U.551, on the 23rd March 1941. The Visenda was at sea about one hundred and fifty miles south-east of Iceland when she sighted the U-Boat. For an hour the trawler tracked the U-Boat, occasionally losing asdic contact, and dropped three patterns of depth charges, until finally air bubbles, oil and wreckage indicated that they had made their kill. Later inspection of the wreckage collected by the Visenda, including a human heart and some bloody portions of a man's lungs, proved beyond doubt that the U.551 had been destroyed.

The action is described in detail in 'Lilliput Fleet' by A. Cecil Hampshire and copies of the relevant pages accompany the lot.

- 392 A D.S.M. group of seven to Leading Seaman D.H. McKay, H.M.S. Maori, for a brilliant night action in which two Italian cruisers and an E-boat were destroyed

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL, G.V.I.R. (SSX.22665, A/L. Smn) small official correction to number; 1939-45 STAR; ATLANTIC STAR; AFRICA STAR; ITALY STAR; DEFENCE AND WAR MEDALS, very fine or better (7)

D.S.M., London Gazette, 26th May 1942, 'For coolness, skill and enterprise while serving in H.M. Ships Maori, Sikh and Legion, in a brilliant night action in the Central Mediterranean in which, without hurt or loss to the Royal Navy, two Italian cruisers and an E-boat were destroyed, and a torpedo boat badly damaged.'

The following details are taken from 'The Battle for the Mediterranean' by D. MacIntyre:

"Meanwhile, at Palermo, cased petrol in large quantities had been loaded on board the two light cruisers Da Barbiano and Di Giussano, which sailed on the evening of December 13th, in company with the torpedo-boat Cigno, for a high-speed dash across the Sicilian Straits to Cape Bon and thence along the coastal route to Tripoli. Their departure did not escape the watchful eye of British reconnaissance planes. Coming eastwards from Gibraltar at high speed was a force of four destroyers under Commander G.H. Stokes of the Sikh, with the Maori, Legion and H.M. Netherlands Ship Issac Sweers. Vice-Admiral Toscano commanding the squadron had been warned of the approach of the British destroyers; he was more than an hour late in his arrival off Cape Bon. Thus Stokes as he came pounding up from the westward, sighted flashing lights and then the outline of two ships which disappeared behind the steep bulk of the headland.

It seemed as though he was just too late. But luck was running on the British side that night. Toscano had just rounded Cape Bon when he heard the sound of aircraft in formation which he guessed to be torpedo planes. To foil them he reversed his course, so that as the Sikh drew clear of the headland Stokes saw his enemy steering towards him and approaching rapidly. He at once led away to get between the Italians and the shore so that he would remain unseen against the black backdrop of the headland.

The Italians were thus taken completely by surprise, when at 2.23am the destroyers' guns flashed out and torpedoes splashed as they were sent on the short run to the target. A few wildly aimed salvos from the Italians dropped their shells on the shore beyond their target, but their gunfire soon ceased as three torpedoes hit the Da Barbiano, sending her quickly to the bottom, and another hit the Di Giussano whose cargo of petrol blazed up. All was over in a few minutes and the destroyers resumed their passage to Malta, leaving the Di Giussano to sink an hour later while the Cigno picked up survivors."

A detailed account of this action was published in 'The Illustrated London News, a copy of which accompanies the group.

- 394 An immediate M.M. awarded to Lance Corporal Andrew McMinn, Scots Guards, for gallantry in a night attack on Penzola ridge in Italy

MILITARY MEDAL, G.VI.R. (2697263 L.Cpl. A.McMinn, S.Gds.), scratches to reverse, otherwise very fine

M.M. London Gazette 10th May, 1945, L/Cpl. A. McMinn, Scots Guards, attd. 2 Coldstream Guards, 6th Armoured Division.

"On the night 4/5 Dec. 1944 L/Cpl. McMinn's Coy made an attack on PENZOLA ridge. This entailed a long and arduous march across steep muddy country. Sometime before the feature was reached the Coy suffered six casualties from heavy shelling. All, including two stretcher cases were successfully evacuated to the RAP a mile and half back, despite the continued fall of shells. This completed, L/Cpl. McMinn made his way to the objective which had now been captured. His direct route lay across a mine-field and over ground never previously covered by our troops. Although he knew this, L/Cpl. McMinn insisted upon proceeding and neither mortar bombs or mines prevented him from rejoining his Coy. When he reached the objective he found more casualties and once more tended them under heavy fire, this time from spandaus as well as guns. The evacuation route now lay down an almost perpendicular cliff, made slippery by rain. Nevertheless despite the fall of 50 ft. which met any false step and the mud which now hindered the stretcher bearers, all the casualties were evacuated successfully. Although he was then almost exhausted, he again returned to his Coy where his cheerfulness and energy was an example to all. On the night 5/6 L/Cpl. McMinn had to crawl out on to the forward slope of the position to tend a badly wounded man under intense spandau fire. He did this without hesitation and brought the wounded man back to safety. Throughout the whole arduous period, L/Cpl. McMinn's courage and tireless energy, combined with his cheerfulness to make him an outstanding example and encouragement to all his Coy."

£300-350

- 395 A good M.M. awarded for the campaign in Italy to Lance Corporal J. Holton, Royal Fusiliers

MILITARY MEDAL, G.VI.R. (39766638 L.Cpl. R. Fus.) possible official correction to number, otherwise good very fine

M.M. London Gazette 13th December, 1945, (Italy).

The following citation was extracted from an official source:

"L/C. Holton has been conspicuous in his conduct in action during the period of the battles of the month of April.

On one occasion, when a Fusilier, L/C. Holton was moving in a section when it came under fire from a strong enemy position on the North bank of the CANALE BIANCA.

Although the enemy fire from the North bank was intense and without waiting for orders L/C. Holton ran forward with his bren gun and despite snipers and spandau fire brought such effective fire to bear on the enemy dug-in positions on the bank that his section were able to storm across and capture intact a vulnerable bridge prepared for demolition and also take the enemy position from the rear.

During the whole of this engagement L/C. Holton lay in an exposed position on the floodbank and continued firing his bren gun until all his ammunition was exhausted.

'This is only one of many instances in which L/C. Holton has shown great gallantry and courage under heavy fire. Since he joined the Bn. in January 1944 he has by his devotion to duty been an example and inspiration to his comrades.'

396 A Chindits M.M. group of four for the campaign in Burma to Sergeant H.C.V. Dodd, Royal Signals

MILITARY MEDAL, G.VI.R. (5780038 Sgt., R. Signals), the edge also impressed 'Duplicate'; 1939-45 STAR; BURMA STAR; WAR MEDAL, good very fine (4)

M.M. London Gazette 22nd April, 1945

The following citation was extracted from an official source:

"Sergeant Dodd is one of the Cipher Sergeants of Brigade Headquarters. During the Brigade counter attack at Kayin on 17th April, 1944, Brigade Headquarters Battle Group was forward with the leading battalion and came under spasmodic fire from the enemy on the flank. Later this developed into a counter attack and at one period personnel came under sustained fire of three MMG's at close range which caused many casualties and some confusion. The few officers of Brigade Headquarters were absent, or wounded or killed. Sergeant Dodd took control and sorted out the wounded. Later, when the order for Brigade Headquarters to withdraw to a safe area was given, Sergeant Dodd again took control, saw to the handling of the mules and quietly and without fuss led the men and animals through the jungle to its new R.V., having taken care first that all concerned were evacuated. Throughout the campaign Sergeant Dodd besides his own duties, which he has carried out with skill and conscientious hard work, had invariably shown himself ready to take on responsibility and jobs beyond the normal call of duty."

397 A Distinguished Flying Medal awarded to Flight Sergeant Francis Daniel Murphy, Royal Australian Air Force, whilst serving with 158 Squadron

DISTINGUISHED FLYING MEDAL, G.VI.R. (Aus. 419133 F.Sgt., R.A.A.F.) contact marks, nearly very fine

D.F.M. London Gazette, 20th February 1945, Flight Sergeant Francis Daniel Murphy, R.A.A.F., 158 Squadron.

The following citation is taken from an official letter from the Governor-General of Australia which accompanies the medal:

"Flight Sergeant Murphy has completed an eventful and successful tour of operations, his accurate gunnery, outstanding courage and consistent keenness having been most praiseworthy at all times.

In September, 1944, during an attack against KIEL he destroyed an enemy fighter.

While engaged on another mission against KIEL his aircraft was attacked by a Junkers 88 which damaged the tail plan and Flight Sergeant Murphy was wounded in the foot. In spite of his injury this courageous airman kept his guns firing and damaged the enemy aircraft which broke off the engagement.

By his cheerful determination, fortitude and devotion to duty Flight Sergeant Murphy has set an excellent example to all aircrew."

£600-800

398 A Korean War M.M. group for the battle of Imjin River awarded to Sergeant Stanley Robinson of the 'Glorious Glosters'

MILITARY MEDAL, E.I.I.R. (1444977 A/Sjt., Glosters); 1939-45 STAR; FRANCE AND GERMANY STAR; DEFENCE AND WAR MEDALS; KOREA 1950-53 (Cpl.); U.N. KOREA, sold with U.S. Presidential Citation emblem and a quantity of paperwork including 4 original photographs, captioned and signed by the recipient, the medals contained in their boxes of issue, extremely fine and rare (7)

Stanley Robinson was Platoon Sergeant of No. 4 Platoon, B Company, under Lieutenant Geoffrey Costello during the battle of Imjin River. During the night of 22/23 April, B Company had inflicted crushing casualties on Chinese patrols which attempted to take their position but had suffered no casualties themselves. By 10.30 on the morning of the 23rd, B Company had established itself on the summit of Hill 314. During the day the Chinese 188th and 189th Division prepared for a fresh attack, the main weight to be directed against B and C Companies. The attack began at 8.30 that evening and for hours wave after wave of Chinese troops advanced against the gallant defenders. Each enemy assault is beaten off without great difficulty and it eventually becomes apparent that the communist forces are relying on sheer weight of numbers to achieve their objective. Despite enormous casualties the Chinese finally overran the two top platoons of C Company.

The attack was intensified against B Company and in particular 4 platoon under Lieut. Costello with Sgt. Robinson controlling the fire of a light machine-gun group. Throughout the night his little party occupied an exposed position and inflicted enormous casualties on the enemy. Eventually a burst of fire hit Sgt. Robinson shattering his left arm and shoulder with further wounds to both hands, thighs and legs. Despite his severe wounds Robinson remained at his post, giving the crew their orders until he lost consciousness. Robson, a light machine-gin Number One, kept firing though he was badly wounded in the leg, until he too became unconscious with another wound. One by one the strength of the platoon was reduced and the little fighting groups split up.

Sgt. Robinson released at Panmunjon

When the Company evacuated the hill Sgt. Robinson remained behind to tend Private Essex who had also been severely wounded, in the head and leg, both managing to hide from the Chinese who had overrun the Company's position. Later in the day Robinson went off to seek help but in his weak state he was inevitably captured. Private Essex remained at liberty for nearly a month and subsequently returned to his own lines, one of only three men to do so.

Sergeant Robinson, meanwhile, was held prisoner in the notorious P.O.W. camps on the Yalu River for the next two years until 23rd April, 1953, when he was one of the wounded prisoners exchanged at Panmunjon. His Military Medal was Gazetted on 8th December, 1953, one of six such awards to the Glosters for the battle of Imjin River.

£2500-3000

399 A K.P.M. awarded for gallantry to Constable Arthur Cambers, Metropolitan Police

KING'S POLICE MEDAL, G.V.R. (Const., Metropolitan Police) in case of issue, toned, nearly extremely fine

K.P.M. London Gazette 3rd January, 1911. The following details were published in "The Police Review and Parade Gossip", 6th January 1911:

"Conspicuous gallantry in attempting to save life. A sewerman was overcome by noxious gasses and fell into some water in the sewer. The Constable went down and dragged him out of the water, and was himself overcome while attempting to secure him with a rope."

Constable Arthur Cambers, Warrant Number 861150, served in "I" Division, Metropolitan Police.

CAMPAIGN GROUPS AND PAIRS

401 The unique pair to Admiral Sir Edward Harvey, G.C.B., Royal Navy

NAVAL GENERAL SERVICE 1793-1840, 2 clasps, Camperdown, Syria (Midshipman) fitted with silver ribbon bar; Turkey, ST. JEAN D'ACRE MEDAL, gold with gilt swivel ring suspension and buckle, good very fine and better (2)

The combination of clasps, spanning 43 years, is unique.

Sir Edward Harvey, G.C.B. (1783-1865) was the son of Captain John Harvey, R.N., and younger brother of Admiral Sir John Harvey. He entered the Royal Navy in 1794, as a 1st class Volunteer on H.M.S. Brunswick, commanded by his father. As Midshipman aboard H.M.S. Prince of Wales, he was present in 1797, at the capture of Trinidad and the destruction of five Spanish vessels in Chaguaramus Bay. In the frigate H.M.S. Beaulieu he was present at the battle of Camperdown, 11th October, 1797; Acting-Lieutenant of H.M.S. Southampton at the reduction of the Danish and Swedish island in the West Indies, March 1801; whilst Lieutenant in H.M.S. Apollo, he was shipwrecked off the coast of Portugal with the loss of the Captain and sixty of her crew, and it was only through the heroic exertions of Lieutenant Harvey that the remainder of the crew were saved. Lieutenant Harvey commanded a detachment of Marines at the capture of Capri and was also present during the defence of Gaeta. Being promoted to the command, 7th January, 1808, of the Cephelus, and re-ordered to the Mediterranean, Captain Harvey there captured four privateers and several small vessels, and while co-operating in the defence of Sicily, came into frequent contact with the gunboats on the Calabrian shore.

During the operations on the coast of Syria and at the blockade of Alexandria, in 1840, Captain Harvey commanded H.M.S. Implacable. For his services on these occasions he was awarded the gold medal, sabre and Nishan Iftihar decoration from the Sultan of Turkey. He was appointed Superintendent at Malta, 1848, and Commander-in-Chief of the Nore 1857; Admiral, 1860, and K.C.B. in 1861. Admiral Harvey was nominated a G.C.B. on 28th March, 1865, just a few weeks before his death on 4th May, 1865.

402 A remarkable Indian campaign group of four awarded to Lieutenant Colonel Charles Loder, 20th Hussars, late Bengal Cavalry and 11th Light Dragoons

ARMY OF INDIA 1799-1826, 1 clasp, Bhurtpoor (11th Lt. Dns.) short hyphen reverse, officially engraved naming; MEEANEE HYDERABAD 1843 (Qr. Mr. Serjt., 9th Regt. Bengal Light Cavalry) fitted with replacement scroll suspender; SUTLEJ 1845-46, for Aliwal 1846 (Serjt. Major, 1st Regt. L.C.); PUNJAB 1848-9, 2 clasps, Chilianwala, Goojerat (Serjt. Major, 1st Bengal Cavy.) contact marks, otherwise nearly very fine and better (4)

Charles William Loder was born in September, 1809, at Meerut where in January, 1825, he enlisted for service with the 11th Light Dragoons. His subsequent campaign service is shown in the Army List of 1880, when he was still serving as Paymaster and Honorary Major in the 20th Hussars:

“Major Loder was present with the 11th Light Dragoons at the siege and capture of Bhurtpoor in 1826 (medal with clasp). Served with the 9th Bengal Cavalry throughout the campaign in Sind in 1843, including the battles of Meeanee and Hyderabad (medal). Served with the 1st Bengal Cavalry in the Sutlej campaign in 1846, and was present at the battle of Aliwal (medal). Also in the Punjab Campaign of 1848-49, including the action of Ramnugger, battles of Chillianwallah and Goojerat, and subsequent pursuit of the Sikhs and Afghans (medal with two clasps).”

Loder retired in 1881 with the honorary rank of Lieutenant Colonel and died in 1885 after 56 years service with the British and Indian Cavalry. The medals that he earned during this service represent a combination that is almost certainly unique.

Commander Murray Thomas Parks sailed as a Mate aboard the Discovery Ship Enterprise, Captain R. Collinson, on the Franklin Search Expedition of 1850-53. In the sledge travelling of 1852 he left the ship on April 16th, and travelled up Prince of Wales' Strait. He reached Melville Island on foot, having had to leave the sledge and tent owing to the ice being too rough to drag the sledge. He returned to the sledge after an absence of 11 days, some of the crew suffering severely from frost bites. Parks finally got back to the Enterprise on June 28th, having been away for 74 days. He had been promoted Lieutenant on 11th April, 1851 and in that rank was employed with the Transport Service during the Abyssinian campaign of 1867-8, under Captain George Tryon, Director of Transports. These officers did most of their work at the base at Zoulla, in Annesley Bay, one of the hottest places on earth, and though neither interesting nor exciting the work was extremely hard in such a sweltering and unhealthy climate. Parks retired on 1st April, 1870 with rank of Commander. (ref. The Arctic Navy List 1875, various Navy List's, The Royal Navy by W.L. Clowes).

- 410 An important Defence of Mafeking pair to Captain H.C. Sandford, Indian Army, killed in action during the attack on Game Tree Fort at Mafeking
 INDIA GENERAL SERVICE 1895-1902, 1 clasp, Punjab Frontier 1897-98 (Lieut., 1st Pjb. Infy.); QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICA 1899-1902, 1 clasp, Defence of Mafeking (Capt., Indian S.C.) toned, extremely fine (2)

Captain Sandford was one of eighty officers and men who formed the storming party detailed to assault and capture the Boer position known as Game Tree Fort. For weeks volleys of rifle and artillery fire had poured down from this position on the besieged inhabitants of Mafeking, and it became imperative that it must at all hazards be silenced. The attack was set for the morning after Christmas Day, 1899. It began with an ineffective artillery barrage and at 5 am the whistle of the Armoured train sounded the signal for the advance. The men dashed forward in swift rushes, their officers well in front, with such spirit and gallantry that all who saw were filled with admiration. A few fell, but the losses were not heavy at this stage, despite the bullets which seemed to come at once from every quarter. Half the distance had been covered, when the men, by order, lay down to recover breath, and, as they lay, opened fire with their rifles. Then the order "Fix bayonets" was given; the steel glinted in the rays of the early sun, and the prone figures rose as if by clockwork from the ground and swept with a cheer towards the fort, now only 300 yards away. Captain Sandford was one of the first to fall in this rush; in an instant he was hit twice; one wound through the spine was mortal, but he died calling his men to go forward, with his face to the foe.

As the attack continued, so too did the casualties. Captain Fitzclarence was down with a bullet through his thigh; Captain Vernon and Lieutenant Paton were both killed, together with 23 men, and over 30 more wounded. It was when he saw this useless sacrifice of life that Major Godley sent a message to headquarters by aide-de-camp, "Captain Vernon, Sir, has been repulsed," he said, "and Major Godley does not think it worthwhile trying again." Nor was it. All that could be done was to send the ambulance to perform its grim duty.

In describing the tragic affair, Mr. Angus Hamilton, in 'Black and White' said: "Indeed, from the armoured train it could be seen that the progress of the men towards the fort was like the Charge of the Six Hundred into the Valley of Death."

Harry Coddington Sandford was the third and youngest son of Colonel Richard M.F. Sandford, Royal Engineers, and nephew of Ensign Daniel Augustus Sandford (see lot 156). Born on the 8th March 1869, he entered H.M.'s Service on the 27th July 1888 as 2nd Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery. Having volunteered for the Indian Service in November 1889, he was transferred to the 33rd Madras Infantry in August 1891, and in the winter of 1891-92 he served in command of a detachment in the operations carried out in the country to the north-east of Bhamo, and took part in the relief of Sadon (medal and clasp). He transferred to the 1st Punjab Infantry in July 1892, and in January 1897 he proceeded with his regiment to the Tochi Valley. On the outbreak of the Frontier War in the following summer, he accompanied the corps into the field, serving with it throughout the Tochi Campaign of 1897-98 (medal and clasp). On the outbreak of the Boer War he proceeded to South Africa for service with the Mounted Infantry and was attached to the Bechuanaland Protectorate Regiment. At the time of his death at Mafeking he was in his 31st year.

Captain Sandford was one of only two Indian Army Officers to be killed in the Boer War.

Signals); Belgium, ORDER OF LEOPOLD II, 5th class breast badge in silver and enamel, the group mounted for wear, generally very fine (10)

Eric Edward Phillips was born in London on August 28th, 1892, and was educated at a London County Council elementary school and at Clarks College. He first became associated with The Times in 1913 as an outside contributor. It was not until May, 1921, that he joined the staff and a great deal had happened to him in the meantime. An enthusiastic Territorial, he was embodied in the First Civil Service Rifles at the outbreak of war in August, 1914. He was severely wounded at Festubert in the following year and became a drill instructor under the Army educational scheme before being demobilized in March 1919. His enthusiasm for the Territorial Army remained and he was again embodied on September 1st, 1939, in the 1st Middlesex Yeomanry (Royal Signals). He served as sergeant instructor in drill, musketry and anti-gas until he was given a commission in the Buffs in July, 1940. A few months later, with the rank of captain, he was appointed a conducting officer in the Army Public Relations Service. He held the job until November, 1943, when he was released at the request of The Times to act as its war correspondent with the Home Forces until June 1944. Thereafter he reported the activities of the 21 Army Group and the Second Army in North Western Europe until he was injured in a motor accident in Germany in May, 1945.

His return to duty in the reporters' room was warmly welcomed. In 1946 he was appointed night news editor and in his free time reported a number of military functions. Later he was relieved of his night work in order to devote himself exclusively to military affairs and as the military reporter of The Times he became a familiar figure at military exercises.

His connection with Army matters lasted late in life, for after his retirement from The Times in 1957 he took up a temporary post in the press department of the War Office and held it until 1960.

He died in London at the age of 70, on 6th September, 1962.

Alan Douglas Seddon served in France and Flanders from 15th January to 8th May, 1915. He held a Special Appointment (Class FF, Intelligence) in the Black Sea, 15th April to 3rd November, 1919; Police Control Officer in the Black Sea, 11th May to 19th December, 1920, and continued to be specially employed in the Black Sea area until 10th October, 1923. He was re-employed during the Second World War with the rank of Major, G.S.O. grade 2.

The cross of the Archangel Michael was established in 1918 by the Urals Forces Council (Krug), to be awarded equally to officers and other ranks of the Ural Cossack forces who displayed valour and fortitude in the fight against the Bolsheviks on the Urals front. The statute of this Order is analagous to that of the Order of St. George.

438 An interesting P.O.W. group of six to Captain A.E. Bedborough, Royal Artillery, late Royal Air Force, who was interned at Oflag IX A/H, Spangenberg Castle

1914-15 STAR (Gnr. R.F.A.); BRITISH WAR AND VICTORY MEDALS (2 Lieut., R.A.F.); 1939-45 STAR; WAR MEDAL, these last two in box of issue; TERRITORIAL DECORATION, G.V.I.R., dated '1950', in its Royal Mint case with forwarding letter, together with 7 inter-war sports medals, mostly named, extremely fine (13)

The lot is sold with the following original documents: various photographs and post cards relating to Captain Bedborough's captivity; a fascinating unpublished manuscript written by the recipient in August 1944, about his experiences as a P.O.W., approximately 105 typed A4 pages interspersed with photographs; a small watercolour of Oflag IX A/H signed C.St.A.W., 1943; a 'Bon Voyage' menu dated October 14th, 1943, illustrated in watercolour and signed by several internee's; a limited edition book "The Prisoners' Progress" being an illustrated diary of the march into captivity of the last of the British army in France, June 1940, by Lieut. L.C. Hunt.

Captain Albert Edward Bedborough enlisted into the Royal Artillery and served in France and with the Royal Flying Corps as a sub-lieutenant, and subsequently with the Royal Air Force. At the outbreak of the second World War he obtained a Captain's commission in the Royal Artillery and went to France with the B.E.F. shortly after his appointment. He was captured at St. Valery-en-Caux, whilst serving with the 51st Highland Division, on June 12th, 1940. He was finally repatriated on 21st October, 1943, after being imprisoned in Oflag VIIC at Laufen and Oflag IX A/H at Spangenberg Castle

Important information for buyers

Absentee Bids

If instructed we will execute bids and advise intending purchasers. No charge is made for this service. Lots will always be bought as cheaply as is allowed by such other bids and reserves as are on our books. In the event of identical bids, the earliest will take precedence. Always indicate a 'top limit'—the amount to which you would bid if you were attending the auction yourself. 'Buy' or unlimited bids will not be accepted.

Advice to Bidders

Further advice to bidders and purchasers follows the bidding slip printed after the last lot in this sale.

Buyers' Premium

A buyers' premium of 10% of the hammer price is payable by the buyers of all lots, together with VAT on such premium.

Pre-sale Estimates

The pre-sale estimates are intended as a guide for prospective purchasers. Any bid between the listed figures would, in our opinion, offer a fair chance of success. However all lots, depending on the degree of competition, can realise prices either above or below the listed estimates.

Methods of Payment

Payment should preferably be made by telegraphic transfer direct to Buckland Dix & Wood's account at:—

Royal Bank of Scotland
London Piccadilly Circus Branch
48 Haymarket
London SW1Y 4SE
Sort Code 16-00-83
Account No. 00118446

Please include your name, account number and invoice number with your instructions to the bank.

Alternative methods of payment which will enable immediate clearance of purchases include cash, bankers drafts and credit cards (Access and Visa). Although personal and company cheques are accepted, buyers are advised that property will not be released until such cheques have cleared. Purchases will be despatched as soon as possible upon receipt of your written despatch instruction, full payment for the lots you have bought. Despatch will be at the buyer's expense. Estimates and advice on all methods of despatch can be provided upon request.

Insurance cover will be arranged unless otherwise specified and will be at the buyer's expense.

Methods of despatch

Air Post. Providing your purchase does not exceed the size and weight stipulated by the postal authorities and we feel that the item is of a suitable nature, Buckland Dix & Wood will arrange for the packing and despatch of your purchase worldwide. Purchasers of books are advised to obtain estimates prior to the despatch of lots containing numerous or extremely large volumes in order to ascertain the most economical method of despatch.

Surface Post. Despatch as for Air Post, often at a cheaper rate but, Surface Post takes considerably longer to arrive at the required destination.

Clearance of purchases

Buyers who have not established a credit arrangement with Buckland Dix & Wood will be asked to pay for their purchases when they wish to take possession of them. It is regretted that Buckland Dix & Wood cannot take Banker's references over the telephone at the time of clearance and that buyers cannot take possession of their purchases until cheques are cleared.

If buyers wish to pay for their purchases by cheques they are urged to arrange clearance of their cheques well in advance of the sale by supplying appropriate Bankers' references.

Buyers will be requested to supply a reasonable means of identification at the time of payment.

Lots will only be released to the purchaser or his authorised representative if full payment has been received by Buckland Dix & Wood together with settlement of any removal, handling and storage charges due.

Conditions of business

Conditions mainly concerning buyers

1 The buyer

The highest bidder shall be the buyer at the 'hammer price' and any dispute shall be settled at the auctioneer's absolute discretion. Every bidder shall be deemed to act as principal unless there is in force a written acknowledgement by Buckland Dix & Wood that he acts as agent on behalf of a named principal.

2 Minimum increment

The auctioneer shall have the right to refuse any bid which does not exceed the previous bid by at least 5 per cent or by such other proportion as the auctioneer shall in his absolute discretion direct.

3 The premium

The buyer shall pay to Buckland Dix & Wood a premium of 10% on the 'hammer price' together with Value Added Tax at the standard rate on the premium and agrees that Buckland Dix & Wood, when acting as agent for the seller, may also receive commission from the seller in accordance with Condition 19.

4 Value Added Tax (VAT)

Lots on which Value Added Tax is payable by the buyer on the 'hammer price' are indicated in the catalogue with the sign '+'. Value Added Tax, the rates of which are subject to alteration by law, is payable at the rates prevailing on the day of the auction.

5 Payment

Immediately a lot is sold the buyer shall:—

- (a) give to Buckland Dix & Wood his name and address and, if so requested, proof of identity; and
- (b) pay to Buckland Dix & Wood the 'total amount due' (unless credit terms have been agreed with Buckland Dix & Wood before the auction).

6 Buckland Dix & Wood may, at its absolute discretion, agree credit terms with the buyer before an auction under which the buyer will be entitled to take possession of lots purchased up to an agreed amount in value in advance of payment by a determined future date of the 'total amount due'.

7 Any payments by a buyer to Buckland Dix & Wood may be applied by Buckland Dix & Wood towards any sums owing from that buyer to Buckland Dix & Wood on any account whatever without regard to any directions of the buyer or his agent, whether express or implied.

8 Collection of purchases

The ownership of the lot purchased shall not pass to the buyer until he has made payment in full to Buckland Dix & Wood of the 'total amount due'.

9 (a) The buyer shall at his own expense take away the lot purchased not later than 5 working days after the day of the auction but (unless credit terms have been agreed in accordance with Condition 7) not before payment to Buckland Dix & Wood of the 'total amount due'.

(b) The buyer shall be responsible for any removal, storage and insurance charges on any lot not taken away within 5 working days after the day of the auction. (c) The packing and handling of purchased lots by Buckland Dix & Wood staff is undertaken solely as a courtesy to clients, and in the case of fragile articles, will be undertaken only at Buckland Dix & Wood discretion. In no event will Buckland Dix & Wood be liable for damage to glass or frames, regardless of the cause.

10 Buyers responsibilities for Lots purchased

The buyer will be responsible for loss or damage to lots purchased from the time of collection or the expiry of 5 working days after the day of the auction, whichever is the sooner, and neither Buckland Dix & Wood nor its servants or agents shall thereafter be responsible for any loss or damage of any kind, whether caused by negligence or otherwise, while any lot is in its custody or under its control.

11 Remedies for non-payment or failure to collect purchases

If any lot is not paid for in full and taken away in accordance with Conditions 6 and 10, or if there is any other breach of either of those Conditions, Buckland Dix & Wood as agent of the seller shall, at its absolute discretion and without prejudice to any other rights it may have, be entitled to exercise one or more of the following rights and remedies:—

- (a) to proceed against the buyer for damages for breach of contract;
- (b) to rescind the sale of that or any other lots sold to the defaulting buyer at the same or any other auction;
- (c) to re-sell the lot or cause it to be re-sold by public auction or private sale and the defaulting buyer shall pay to Buckland Dix & Wood any resulting deficiency in the 'total amount due' (after deduction of any part payment and addition of re-sale costs) and any surplus shall belong to the seller;

(d) to remove, store and insure the lot at the expense of the defaulting buyer and, in the case of storage, either at Buckland Dix & Wood premises or elsewhere;

(e) to charge interest at a rate not exceeding 1.5% per month on the 'total amount due' to the extent it remains unpaid for more than 5 working days after the day of the auction;

(f) to retain that or any other lot sold to the same buyer at the same or any other auction and release it only after payment of the 'total amount due';

(g) to reject or ignore any bids made by or on behalf of the defaulting buyer at any future auctions or obtain a deposit before accepting any bids in future;

(h) to apply any proceeds of sale then due or at any time thereafter becoming due to the defaulting buyer towards settlement of the 'total amount due' and to exercise a lien on any property of the defaulting buyer which is in Buckland Dix & Wood possession for any purpose.

12 Liability of Buckland Dix & Wood and Sellers

(a) Goods auctioned are usually of some age. All goods are sold with all faults and imperfections and errors of description. Illustrations in catalogues are for identification only. Buyers should satisfy themselves prior to sale as to the condition of each lot and should exercise and rely on their own judgement as to whether the lot accords with its description. Subject to the obligations accepted by Buckland Dix & Wood under this Condition, none of the seller, Buckland Dix & Wood, its servants or agents is responsible for errors of descriptions or for the genuineness or authenticity of any lot, no warranty whatever is given by Buckland Dix & Wood, its servants or agents, or any seller to any buyer in respect of any lot and any express or implied conditions or warranties are hereby excluded.

(b) Any lot which proves to be a 'deliberate forgery' may be returned by the buyer to Buckland Dix & Wood within 15 days of the date of the auction in the same condition in which it was at the time of the auction, accompanied by a statement of defects, the number of the lot, and the date of the auction at which it was purchased. If Buckland Dix & Wood is satisfied that the item is a 'deliberate forgery' and that the buyer has and is able to transfer a good and marketable title to the lot free from any third party claims, the sale will be set aside and any amount paid in respect of the lot will be refunded: Provided that the buyer shall have no rights under this Condition if:—

(i) the description in the catalogue at the date of the sale was in accordance with the then generally accepted opinion of scholars and experts or fairly indicated that there was a conflict of such opinion; or

(ii) the only method of establishing at the date of publication of the catalogue that the lot was a 'deliberate forgery' was by means of scientific processes not generally accepted for use until after publication of the catalogue or a process which was unreasonably expensive or impractical.

(c) A buyer's claim under this Condition shall be limited to any amount paid in respect of the lot and shall not extend to any loss of damage suffered or expense incurred by him.

(d) The benefit of this Condition shall not be assignable and shall rest solely and exclusively in the buyer who, for the purpose of this Condition, shall be and only be the person to whom the original invoice is made out by Buckland Dix & Wood in respect of the lot sold.

Conditions mainly concerning sellers and consignors

13 Warranty of Title and Availability

The seller warrants to Buckland Dix & Wood and to the buyer that he is the true owner of the property or is properly authorised to sell the property by the true owner and is able to transfer good and marketable title to the property free from any third party claims. The seller will indemnify Buckland Dix & Wood, its servants and agents and the buyer against any loss or damage suffered by either in consequence or any breach on the part of the seller.

14 Reserves

The seller shall be entitled to place prior to the auction a reserve on any lot, being the minimum 'hammer price' at which that lot may be treated as sold. A reserve once placed by the seller shall not be changed without the consent of Buckland Dix & Wood. Buckland Dix & Wood may at their option sell at a 'hammer price' below the reserve but in any such cases the sale proceeds to which the seller is entitled shall be the same as they would have been had the sale been at the reserve. Where a reserve has been placed, only the auctioneer may bid on behalf of the seller.

15 Authority to Deduct Commission and Expenses.

The seller authorises Buckland Dix & Wood to deduct commission at the 'stated rate' and 'expenses' from the 'hammer price' and acknowledges Buckland Dix &

Wood's right to retain the premium payable by the buyer.

16 Rescission of the Sale

If before Buckland Dix & Wood remit the 'sale proceeds' to the seller, the buyer makes a claim to rescind the sale if appropriate and Buckland Dix & Wood is of the opinion that the claim is justified, Buckland Dix & Wood is authorised to rescind the sale and refund to the buyer any amount paid to Buckland Dix & Wood in respect of the lot.

17 Payment of Sale Proceeds

Buckland Dix & Wood shall remit the 'sale proceeds' to the seller not later than one month after the auction, but if by that date Buckland Dix & Wood has not received the 'total amount due' from the buyer then Buckland Dix & Wood will remit the 'sale proceeds' within five working days after the date on which the 'total amount due' is received from the buyer. If credit terms have been agreed between Buckland Dix & Wood and the buyer, Buckland Dix & Wood shall remit to the seller the sale proceeds not later than one month after the auction unless otherwise agreed by the seller.

18 If the buyer fails to pay to Buckland Dix & Wood the 'total amount due' within 3 weeks after the auction, Buckland Dix & Wood will endeavour to notify the seller and take the seller's instructions as to the appropriate course of action and, so far as in Buckland Dix & Wood's opinion is practicable, will assist the seller to recover the 'total amount due' from the buyer. If circumstances do not permit Buckland Dix & Wood to take instructions from the seller, the seller authorises Buckland Dix & Wood at the seller's expense to agree special terms for payment of the 'total amount due', to remove, store and insure the lot sold, to settle claims made by or against the buyer on such terms as Buckland Dix & Wood shall in its absolute discretion think fit, to take such steps as are necessary to collect monies due by the buyer to the seller and if necessary to rescind the sale and refund money to the buyer.

19 If, notwithstanding that the buyer fails to pay to Buckland Dix & Wood the 'total amount due' within three weeks after the auction, Buckland Dix & Wood remits the 'sale proceeds' to the seller, the ownership of the lot shall pass to Buckland Dix & Wood.

20 Charges for Withdrawn Lots

Where a seller cancels instructions for sale, Buckland Dix & Wood reserves the right to charge a fee of 10% of Buckland Dix & Wood's then latest estimate or middle estimate of the auction price of the property withdrawn, together with Value Added Tax thereon and 'expenses' incurred in relation to the property.

21 Rights to Photographs and Illustrations

The seller gives Buckland Dix & Wood full and absolute right to photograph and illustrate any lot placed in its hands for sale and to use such photographs and illustrations and any photographs and illustrations provided by the seller at any time at its absolute discretion (whether or not in connection with the auction).

22 Unsold Lots

Where any lot fails to sell, Buckland Dix & Wood shall notify the seller accordingly. The seller shall make arrangements either to re-offer the lot for sale or to collect the lot.

23 Buckland Dix & Wood reserve the right to charge commission up to one-half of the 'stated rates' calculated on the 'bought-in price' and in addition 'expenses' in respect of any unsold lots.

General conditions and definitions

24 Buckland Dix & Wood sells as agent for the seller (except where it is stated wholly or partly to own any lot as principal) and as such is not responsible for any default by seller or buyer.

25 Any representation or statement by Buckland Dix & Wood, in any catalogue as to authorship, attribution, genuineness, origin, date, age, provenance, condition or estimated selling price is a statement of opinion only. Every person interested should exercise and rely on his own judgement as to such matters and neither Buckland Dix & Wood nor its servants or agents are responsible for the correctness of such opinions.

26 Whilst the interests of prospective buyers are best served by attendance at the auction, Buckland Dix & Wood will if so instructed execute bids on their behalf, neither Buckland Dix & Wood nor its servants or agents being responsible for any neglect or default in doing so or for failing to do so.

27 Buckland Dix & Wood shall have the right, at its discretion, to refuse admission to its premises or attendance at its auctions by any person.

28 Buckland Dix & Wood has absolute discretion without giving any reason to refuse any bid, to divide any lot, to combine any two or more lots, to withdraw any lot from the auction and in case of dispute to put up any lot for auction again.

29 (a) Any indemnity under these Conditions shall extend to all actions, proceedings costs, expenses, claims and demands whatever incurred or suffered by the person entitled to the benefit of the indemnity.

(b) Buckland Dix & Wood declares itself to be a trustee for its relevant servants and agents of the benefit of every indemnity under these Conditions to the extent that such indemnity is expressed to be for the benefit of its servants and agents.

30 Any notice by Buckland Dix & Wood to a seller, consignor, prospective bidder or buyer may be given by first class mail or airmail and if so given shall be deemed to have been duly received by the addressee 48 hours after posting.

31 These Conditions shall be governed by and construed in accordance with English law. All transactions to which these Conditions apply and all matters connected therewith shall also be governed by English law. Buckland Dix & Wood hereby submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts and all other parties concerned hereby submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.

32 In these Conditions:—

(a) 'catalogue' includes any advertisement, brochure, estimate, price list and other publication;

(b) 'hammer price' means the price at which a lot is knocked down by the auctioneer to the buyer;

(c) 'total amount due' means the 'hammer price' in respect of the lot sold together with any premium, Value Added Tax chargeable and additional charges and expenses due from a defaulting buyer in pounds sterling;

(d) 'deliberate forgery' means an imitation made with the intention of deceiving as to authorship, origin, date, age, period, culture or source which is not shown to be such in the description in the catalogue and which at the date of the sale had a value materially less than it would have had if it had been in accordance with that description.

(e) 'sale proceeds' means the net amount due to the seller being the 'hammer price' of the lot sold less commission at the 'stated rates' and 'expenses' and any other amounts due to Buckland Dix & Wood by the seller in whatever capacity and howsoever arising;

(f) 'stated rates' means Buckland Dix & Wood published rates of commission for the time being and Value Added Tax thereon;

(g) 'expenses' in relation to the sale of any lot means Buckland Dix & Wood charges and expenses for insurance, illustrations, special advertising, packing and freight of that lot and any Value Added Tax thereon;

(h) 'bought-in-price' means 5 per cent more than the highest bid received below the reserve.

33 Vendors' Commission on Sales

A commission of 10% is payable by the vendor on the hammer price on lots sold.

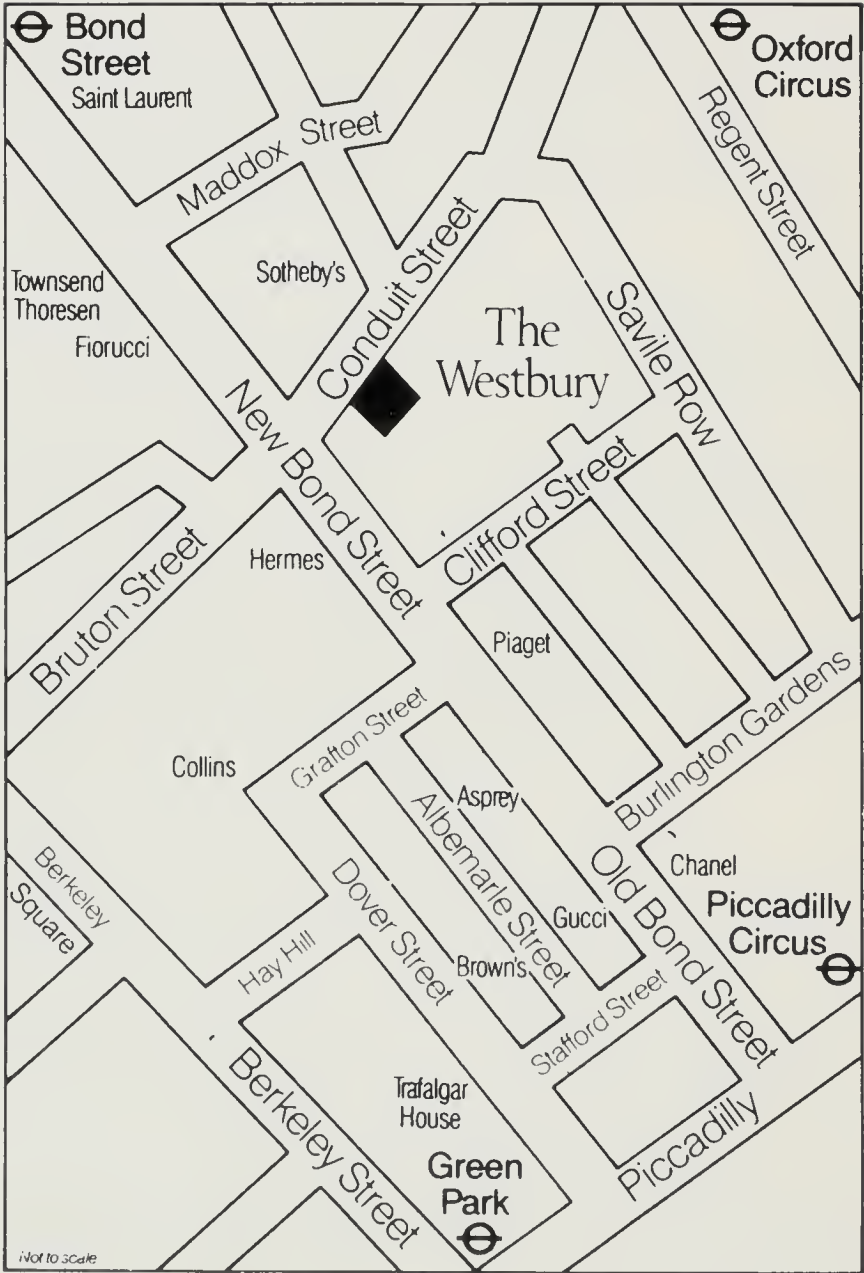

34 VAT

Commission, illustrations and advertising are subject to VAT.
